

IN THE DAYS WHEN THE WORLD WAS WIDE

AND OTHER VERSES BY

HENRY LAWSON

PLEASE RETURN TO
WAL (0407 86 9696)
AT VFMC

80c
8/-

IN THE DAYS WHEN THE WORLD WAS WIDE
And Other Verses

Glowing verses by the balladist whose ideals and intense feeling for human wrongs and hardships made him the poet of the people. This volume includes such well-known and well-loved pieces as "Faces in the Street", "Andy's Gone with Cattle", "The Sliprails and the Spur", and "The Ballad of the Drover".

CONTENTS

	PAGE
TO AN OLD MATE
Old Mate! In the gusty old weather, . . .	5
IN THE DAYS WHEN THE WORLD WAS WIDE
The world is narrow and ways are short, and our lives are dull and slow, . . . [Dec.-1894]	13
FACES IN THE STREET
They lie, the men who tell us in a loud decisive tone . . . . . [July-1888]	17
THE ROARING DAYS
The night too quickly passes . . . [Dec.-1889]	21
'FOR'ARD'
It is stuffy in the steerage where the second-classers sleep, . . . . . [Dec.-1893]	24
THE DROVER'S SWEETHEART
An hour before the sun goes down [June-1891]	29
OUT BACK
The old year went, and the new returned, in the withering weeks of drought, . . . [Sept.-1893]	31
THE FREE-SELECTOR'S DAUGHTER
I met her on the Lachlan Side— . . . [May-1891]	34
SEZ YOU
When the heavy sand is yielding backward from your blistered feet, . . . [Mar.-1894]	36

	PAGE
ANDY'S GONE WITH CATTLE
Our Andy's gone to battle now . . . . . [Oct.-1888]	39
JACK DUNN OF NEVERTIRE
It chanced upon the very day we'd got the shearing done, . . . . . [Aug.-1892]	41
TROOPER CAMPBELL
One day old Trooper Campbell . . . . . [Apr.-1891]	45
THE SLIPRAILS AND THE SPUR
The colours of the setting sun . . . . . [July-1899]	50
PAST CARIN'
Now up and down the siding brown . . . . . [Aug.-1899]	52
THE GLASS ON THE BAR
Three bushmen one morning rode up to an inn, . . . . . [Apr.-1890]	54
THE SHANTY ON THE RISE
When the caravans of wool-teams climbed the ranges from the West, . . . . . [Dec.-1891]	56
THE VAGABOND
White handkerchiefs wave from the short black pier . . . . . [Aug.-1895]	60
SWEENEY
It was somewhere in September, and the sun was going down, . . . . . [Dec.-1893]	64
MIDDLETON'S ROUSEABOUT
Tall and freckled and sandy, . . . . . [Mar.-1890]	69

	PAGE
THE BALLAD OF THE DROVER
Across the stony ridges, . . . . . [Mar.-1889]	70
TAKING HIS CHANCE
They stood by the door of the Inn on the Rise; . . . . . [June-1892]	73
WHEN THE 'ARMY' PRAYS FOR WATTY
When the kindly hours of darkness, save for light of moon and star, . . . . . [May-1893]	75
THE WRECK OF THE 'DERRY CASTLE'
Day of ending for beginnings! . . . . . [Dec.-1887]	77
BEN DUGGAN
Jack Denver died on Talbragar when Christmas Eve began, . . . . . [Dec.-1891]	79
THE STAR OF AUSTRALASIA
We boast no more of our bloodless flag, that rose from a nation's slime; . . . . .	82
THE GREAT GREY PLAIN
Out West, where the stars are brightest, . . . . . [Sept.-1893]	87
THE SONG OF OLD JOE SWALLOW
When I was up the country in the rough and early days, . . . . . [May-1890]	89
CORNY BILL
His old clay pipe stuck in his mouth, . . . . . [May-1892]	93
THE CHERRY-TREE INN
The rafters are opened to sun, moon, and star . . . . .	95

10	CONTENTS	PAGE
UP THE COUNTRY
	I am back from up the country—very sorry that I went— . . . . . [July-1892]	97
KNOCKED UP
	I'm lyin' on the barren ground that's baked and cracked with drought, . . . . . [Aug.-1893]	101
THE BLUE MOUNTAINS
	Above the ashes straight and tall, [Dec.-1888]	103
THE CITY BUSHMAN
	It was pleasant up the country, City Bushman, where you went, . . . . . [Aug.-1892]	104
EURUNDEREE
	There are scenes in the distance where beauty is not, . . . . . [Aug.-1891]	111
MOUNT BUKAROO
	Only one old post is standing . . . . . [Dec.-1889]	113
THE FIRE AT ROSS'S FARM
	The squatter saw his pastures wide, [Apr.-1891]	115
THE TEAMS
	A cloud of dust on the long white road, . . . . . [Dec.-1889]	119
CAMERON'S HEART
	The diggings were just in their glory when Alister Cameron came, . . . . . [July-1891]	121
THE SHAME OF GOING BACK
	When you've come to make a fortune and you haven't made your salt, . . . . . [Oct.-1891]	124

11	CONTENTS	PAGE
SINCE THEN
	I met Jack Ellis in town to-day — . . . . . [Nov.-1895]	126
PETER ANDERSON AND CO.
	He had offices in Sydney, not so many years ago, . . . . . [Aug.-1895]	129
WHEN THE CHILDREN COME HOME
	On a lonely selection far out in the West, . . . . . [Dec.-1890]	136
DAN, THE WRECK
	Tall, and stout, and solid-looking, . . . . .	137
A PROUDER MAN THAN YOU
	If you fancy that your people came of better stock than mine, . . . . . [June-1892]	141
THE SONG AND THE SIGH
	The creek went down with a broken song, . . . . . [Mar.-1889]	143
THE CAMBAROORA STAR
	So you're writing for a paper? Well, it's nothing very new . . . . . [Dec.-1891]	144
AFTER ALL
	The brooding ghosts of Australian night . . . . .	152
MARSHALL'S MATE
	You almost heard the surface bake, and saw the gum-leaves turn— . . . . . [July-1895]	154
THE POETS OF THE TOMB
	The world has had enough of bards who wish that they were dead, . . . . . [Oct.-1892]	159

	PAGE
AUSTRALIAN BARDS AND BUSH REVIEWERS
While you use your best endeavour to immortalise in verse . . . . . [Feb.-1894]	161
THE GHOST
Down the street as I was drifting with the city's human tide, . . . . . [Aug.-1889]	162